Farewell to The Stevenson Family

The Gillygooley Community gathered to say farewell to the Stevenson family as they are emigrating to Australia in September. The Stevenson family are well known and active members in the community. Maurice has served on the Gillygooley Church Committee and Diane was a walk leader in Gillygooley walking club for many years. The couple have three sons, Andrew, who has been in Australia for a few years and is serving on the Australian Police, Adam has secured work with Joe Vella Insurance brokers in Queensland after Graduating from University earlier this year and Jack is hoping to join the Royal Australian Air Force. Tea and a presentation was made to the family which was attended by representatives from the Church, the Community Association and Walking Club. We take this opportunity to wish them well and Gods richest blessings on their new life in Australia.

Dear Rev Herron & Congregations

I would like to thank you very much for your very generous donations to our Snowdon climb in June for Marie Curie. We were delighted to raise £1,362.50!

Marie Curie provide care and support for people living with any terminal illness, and their families. They have been carrying out this vital work for over 65 years – last year alone they cared for over 40,000 people across the UK.

Marie Curie hope that their UK treks and walks in 2016 will raise £213,000 towards Marie Curie's work in providing hands-on nursing care to people with a terminal illness. Their nursing care is provided completely free of charge to people with terminal illnesses and their families, and can make the difference in letting them stay at home with their loved ones. The money Ivor & I raised will go towards that.

Many thanks
Alison Donnell & Ivor Russell

CHANGES TO THE PRESBYTERIAN HERALD

As you may have read in the September edition of the Presbyterian Herald, in 2014 the General Assembly commissioned a publications review to assess the viability of the magazines produced by PCI. This review has now been completed and was presented to the General Council in March 2016. Based on the review, the Council agreed that ReachOut magazine will cease with the December 2016/January 2017 edition and that some of its content will filter into an updated and revised Presbyterian Herald, launching in February 2017.

To assist with planning content for the revised Presbyterian Herald, we are seeking feedback from current readers and non-readers. For this purpose surveys were printed in the September Herald and October/November ReachOut magazines for readers to fill out and send back. We would encourage as many people as possible to respond.

To assist people to respond, the survey is also available online and we would be grateful if you could circulate the link below to as many subscribers as possible.

<https://www.presbyterianireland.org/Resources/Presbyterian-Herald/Herald-Reader-Survey.aspx>

A survey is also available for those who do not subscribe to any of the PCI magazines and we would greatly appreciate it if you would share this survey with all other members of your congregation. You can access it online at this address:

<https://www.presbyterianireland.org/Resources/Presbyterian-Herald/Non-Reader-Survey.aspx>

Your feedback is greatly appreciated and will help us produce a more relevant and interesting magazine for our readers. Please take the time to visit the website and complete it. Your views are important! Please complete the survey by 31st October.

Trinity and Gillygooley welcome visitors from Montreal, Canada

Elaine Paul (third from the left in the photograph) was very helpful when we were researching information for the 250th anniversary of Trinity congregation and the book that followed. Elaine is the great-great-great granddaughter of the Rev Josias Mitchell, Minister of Trinity from 1842-1879. It was during his time that our original Trinity Church was demolished and rebuilt on the same site. That was in 1856.

Elaine is also the great granddaughter of the Rev Samuel Paul, Minister of Gillygooley from 1869-1904. The Rev Mitchell had three daughters and all three had married Presbyterian clergymen. One of these was Margaret who married Rev Samuel Paul. Also in the photograph is Stephen Paul (right in the photograph) and their travelling companions, the Carsons.

A NEW HOME AND A NEW LIFE By a Gillygooley member

Moving into a new home is an exciting time because it brings new beginnings and hope for dreams fulfilled. Whether you are a newly married couple, a family starting a new journey in a new town or single and buying your first place, take time to breathe in the excitement of renewed hope. Allow God's blessings into your home as you put photos on the walls, remodel the kitchen, invite friends over for dinner and celebrate holidays. Seek His council in each decision, from adopting a dog to deciding whether an extended family member will live with you.

Here are the top seven Bible verses for blessing a new home.

1. Let Understanding and Wisdom be the Foundation

Proverbs 24:3-4 "By wisdom a house is built, and by understanding it is established; by knowledge the rooms are filled with all precious and pleasant riches."

There is a lot of thought, energy and time into creating a home. Sometimes this means you feel like rushing into purchasing furniture, but remember that creating a home is more than what you put into it. Make decisions that are wise and help you sustain your home for years to come. Be understanding of each family member when a plate is dropped, window is broken and garage door is backed into. These things happen and the reactions and forgiveness are the glue that helps bring peace to your home.

2. May God Keep Your Home Safe

Numbers 6:24-26 "The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make his face to shine upon you and be gracious to you; the Lord lift up his countenance upon you and give you peace."

The Lord can bless your new home in many ways. Many people dream about a safe haven that brings peace and happiness. Pray for this over your new home as you get settled in. Find ways to secure your home, such as changing the locks and installing a security system.

3. Welcome God into Your Home

2 Chronicles 7:15-16 "Now my eyes will be open and my ears attentive to the prayer that is made in this place. For now I have chosen and consecrated this house that my name may be there forever. My eyes and my heart will be there for all time."

The Lord knows all about the new move into your new home and wants to bless it. He is pursuing a relationship with you and your entire family and will help you establish your home if you let Him. Create a sign with your favorite Bible verse and hang it in a place your family will see it each day.

4. Let Your Home be based on Hard Work

Proverbs 24:27 "Prepare your work outside; get everything ready for yourself in the field, and after that build your house."

You worked hard to earn the money to purchase a home, so continue working hard as you create your home. Let your dreams come true, whether it's to plant a garden or build an ice skating rink.

5. May Your Home Be Peaceful

1 Samuel 25:6 "And thus you shall greet him: 'Peace be to you, and peace be to your house, and peace be to all that you have.'"

A home is a wonderful thing – something that can be a peaceful haven, but it's something you have to work to achieve. Allow God to guide you in how to establish and allow your home to become more peaceful each day.

6. May You Dwell In Your Home for Many Years

1 Kings 8:13 "I have indeed built you an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever."

Do you see your home as a place to dwell in forever? God wants this for you, so look for ways that will help you maintain your home for years and years to come. Allow God to establish your home with love, memories, grace and peace.

7. Let Your Home Have Peace

Luke 10:5 "Whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace be to this house!'"

Yes, this is another verse about peace! A new home is a chance to create a peaceful haven for you and your family. May God bless you with peace from the first day you move in until the last day your family lives in the home.

A new home can be exciting, but can also bring stresses, so remember these verses as you decide how your household will run. Find ways to make it peaceful and find ways to glorify God in your home. There is a greater reason for why God has blessed you and allow Him to carry out His work through establishing your home.

Children's Day at Trinity

THE NEW EDITION OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN IRELAND'S ANNUAL PRAYER HANDBOOK IS NOW AVAILABLE

Each double page spread over its 105-pages covers a week in the life of PCI and contains information on the work and mission of the Church, those who serve it at home and overseas and specific areas for prayer.

Writing in the introduction Presbyterian Moderator, Rt. Rev. Dr. Frank Sellar, warmly commends it and reflects on this year's Fit for Purpose theme 'A community of Global Concern.'

"By using the information contained within this guide, we are introduced to people, situations and circumstances which otherwise we might not know. We are given an insight into the work of the councils and personnel of our Church, serving at home and overseas. We are stimulated to think beyond the narrow confines of our own contexts and congregations," Dr. Sellar said.

"I warmly commend this Prayer handbook...for use privately, at family prayers, mid-week fellowship and in church services so that together as a people who have benefited from so much of God's goodness and grace, we might in turn be a community of global concern.

The 2016-2017 Prayer Handbook can be ordered by visiting:

Caring for international students

In the leafy suburb of south Belfast you'll find the Presbyterian Halls of Residence in Derryvoigle Avenue.

This is a Christian community of 68 young people, the vast majority of whom are studying at Queen's University, Belfast (QUB). Students there are equipped and encouraged to be outward looking and to love their neighbours on campus, including those from further afield.

One area of service that many of the Derryvoigle students choose to be involved in is iMeal, a free meal for international students provided by local churches every Friday of term time.

Rev. Karen Mbayo, Presbyterian chaplain at QUB, explains, "iMeal has been a real success story of the last couple of years. We have about a dozen Derryvoigle students who come and commit every Friday night to this meal, befriending around 50 international students.

"The international students are usually part of Erasmus, a European Union exchange programme, so they are only here for 12 weeks. It's not about whether we have converted them in those 12 weeks, rather have we shared who Jesus is and who we're about in that time? So when they go back home they've heard and experienced the gospel in the most relational of ways."

Thanks to your generosity Karen, along with the students she is discipling, have the opportunity to reach many with the message of Christ.

"It sounds like a club, but it really is a privilege to be here on the ground when something happens and to be someone that people will open up to and feel safe talking to."

Global TEEMwork

In 2010, Volker and JinHyeog Glissmann began to work in Malawi with TEEM (Theological Education by Extension in Malawi), a nationwide, distance-learning theological institution.

The Glissmanns are a truly international family. Volker is from Germany, JinHyeog is from South Korea, they met in Russia, while working with Operation Mobilisation, and they moved to Northern Ireland in 2002. Their sending congregation is Harmony Hill Presbyterian Church in Lisburn.

Based in Zomba, Volker works as the Director of TEEM, which helps train pastors and elders to lead their congregational bodies, particularly in rural areas. The Bible Society of Malawi has calculated that in a rural church only 60% of elders will have a Bible, leaving many dependent on their own thinking.

Volker shares: "There is a little church outside of Zomba where we did our initial training course. The training has brought them back to the Scriptures and given them a deeper understanding of God. They are now much more comfortable with what they're doing and with the implications of being called to lead other people."

Thanks to United Appeal the Glissmanns are supported in their work with TEEM, equipping pastors and elders for sound spiritual leadership.

"We see an openness here. They have a strong desire to share the gospel but they just don't know how... Through TEEM people are coming to faith and it's very exciting."

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN IRELAND

The Presbyterian Church in Ireland (PCI) was established in 1840 with the coming together of two Presbyterian churches, the General Synod of Ulster and the Secession Synod. The union of the two churches took place at the first General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in Ireland meeting in Belfast on 10th July 1840.

Irish Presbyterianism had its origins in Scottish migrations to Ulster in the early 17th Century. Ballycarry Presbyterian Church in County Antrim is the oldest congregation dating back to 1613. The newest, Donabate Presbyterian Church in County Dublin, first gathered for worship in 2010.

Presbyterianism

The Presbyterian form of Christian faith is best described as 'Reformed' with its strong emphasis on the Sovereignty of God, the Kingship of Christ and the authority of the Bible.

Preaching the Word of God is central to Presbyterian worship services that are set amongst a mixture of prayer and praise. There is no fixed liturgy in Presbyterian services of worship. Prayers and hymns, psalms and paraphrases, Scripture readings and sermons are adapted to the needs of the occasion.

The word 'Presbyterian' itself describes the form of Church government, which emphasises the individual and corporate responsibility of members. Ministers and members share in the organising and running of every aspect of the Church's work. In the Presbyterian Church in Ireland this is undertaken at three levels:

- Congregational (local)
- Presbytery (regional)
- General Assembly (denominational)

The General Assembly is the highest decision-making body of the Church. One of its roles is to elect the Moderator, the chief public representative of the Church who serves for one year. The current Moderator is Rt. Rev. Dr. Frank Sellar, who is minister of Bloomfield Presbyterian Church in east Belfast.

The Moderator, however, is not the 'head of the church'. The Code, or constitution of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland clearly states that 'The Lord Jesus Christ is the sole King and Head of the Church...'

You can read more about PCI's structure and leadership on the PCI's website. The Church's administrative heart is Assembly Buildings, which is located at Fisherwick Place in Belfast.

PCI in 21st Century

Through its congregations, the Presbyterian Church in Ireland is very much a part of local community life and an integral part of wider society. Today PCI has over 225,000 members who belong to 539 congregations from Bushmills in County Antrim, to Aghada in County Cork. PCI is the largest Protestant denomination in Northern Ireland.

The Church currently has 380 active ministers, some of whom will have two or more congregations to minister to. In terms of their training, Union Theological College in Belfast's Queen's Quarter, is PCI's principal body for the training of ministers prior to ordination.

Across Ireland congregations seek to build God's Kingdom in their community, growing in faith as disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ, so that the Good News of the Gospel can be shared.

At home and overseas

PCI is committed to bringing the Gospel of Jesus Christ to people of all ages across Ireland and the wider world.

Today PCI has partnership links with indigenous churches, Christian institutions or international mission agencies in more than 25 countries around the world. It also supports 36 adults who are engaged in mission in varying ways serving in 12 countries.

The Church has an active 'social witness' demonstrating God's love in action by ministering to the physical needs of people. PCI provides services for a diverse range of people in 17 locations across Ireland. This includes supporting and caring for older people and people with a learning and physical disabilities. The Church also works with people with addictions and with offenders.

PCI is committed to building a more peaceful society. It also seeks to make a unique contribution to life on the island of Ireland, by giving voice to the concerns of many people, both within and outside the Church, engaging with government and speaking out on national and international issues.
